WELCOME TO PESHASTIN PINNACLES STATE PARK

Peshastin Pinnacles is a day-use park located in the foothills of the Cascade Mountains in Chelan County. The park features a group of sandstone slabs and spires called "the pinnacles." Climbable spires reach 200 feet into the air. Rocks and trails provide views of surrounding orchards, the Enchantment Mountain Range and the Wenatchee River Valley.

This 34-acre desert park is popular with hikers and climbers for its sweeping views of the Cascade Mountains and the Wenatchee River Valley. The park offers a 1.5-mile-steep hiking trail. For rock climbers, slabs and spires vary from easy to difficult and require rock-climbing equipment.

The park also offers wildlife viewing, picnicking and bird watching.

Please remember that while visiting these timeless places to only take photos and leave footprints. For many public lands, including Washington State Parks, you will find that State Law (RCW 79A.05.165) prevents you from taking anything from the property unless you have a valid scientific research permit. We need to preserve our public lands for generations yet to come and take care to keep our Parks and public lands from being destroyed bit by bit. Please leave all items in the Parks and follow Park specific rules that help protect our treasured places from the very small to the very large, from temporal to forever. Thank you and enjoy!
