FAQS

What is the Washington State Sno-Park permit? It is a vehicle permit that allows you to access and park within designated Sno-Park areas for winter recreationists. It is available from the Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission, Winter Recreation Program, and Spokane. Proceeds are used exclusively for non-motorized Sno-Park administration of the Sno-Park Program.

How Revenue is Spent

Winter Recreation Program

Emergencies and Roadside Assistance:

Sno-Park plowing is secondary to highway plowing; some Sno-Parks may not be cleared completely during the winter. Do Sno-Parks have groomed trails? Some Sno-Parks have groomed trails. Their actual location and whether they are marked on the Sno-Park map is determined by the Sno-Park Program. They are usually found in larger parks.

What is the cost of a permit? Sno-Park permits may be purchased at more than 125 retail locations throughout the state or by mail from the Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission, Winter Recreation Program. This 60-page, waterproof, foldable guidebook provides Sno-Park information, including trail networks, snowmobile parking, and/or Sno-Park fees.

Where can I buy a permit? Sno-Park permits may be purchased at more than 125 retail locations throughout the state or by mail from the Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission, Winter Recreation Program. This 60-page, waterproof, foldable guidebook provides Sno-Park information, including trail networks, snowmobile parking, and/or Sno-Park fees.

More Safety Reminders

- Avoid danger by skiing in areas where you are capable of skiing safely.
- Never ski alone and tell friends or family where you plan to go and when you expect to return.
- Plan your trip according to the weakest skier's ability.
