Welcome to Anderson Lake

Anderson Lake State Park is a remote day-use park located near the small town of Chimacum. The 496-acre park is surrounded by cedar, fir and alder forest mixed with freshwater marshes. The park slopes down to the 70-acre Anderson Lake and abounds with birds and wildlife. The park is popular for horseback riding, non-motorized boating and hiking.

Welcome. Please remember a Discover Pass is required to visit a state park or other state-managed recreation lands. Revenue from Discover Pass replaces general fund tax funding no longer available to cover the cost of operations.

Park amenities and facilities
Anderson Lake State Park offers:
- One boat ramp (for boats with electric motors only). Be advised, lake water is 25 feet at its deepest spot
- Several picnic tables along the lake shore
- Equestrian trailer parking with hitching posts
- Two vault toilets
- No potable water is available

Park history
In May, 1966 the Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission entered into agreement with property owner William F. Anderson, to purchase 410 acres surrounding Anderson Lake. The purchase was finalized in a ceremony on July 21, 1969. Anderson Lake is not named for William F. Anderson, but rather a relative of Amanda Anderson, a previous owner of the property with no relation to William F.
